Plant a tree and help our wildlife.

£10.00 Per tree.

Will help offset your personal carbon foot print. These trees may live for 300 years or more!

Plant a tree every month and make a whole woodland and Carbon Sink for yourself!

The Rhino photo has been gifted by FES, and hangs on the walls of the Embassy of Nepal, along with the Tiger below

Himalayan Rainforest Project.

By sponsoring a tree for £10.00 you will be helping replant the Nepalese forests in the 'Himrain Project'. This initiative has been given an extra boost when the United Nation's General Assembly declared that 2011 to be the 'International Year of Forests'.

The programme has a number of aims that:-

- Recreates vital forest habitats for animals
- Promotes the protection of the rare One Horned Rhinoceros
- Represents the endangered tiger as a biodiversity 'umbrella'
- Creates a 'carbon sink' soaking up greenhouse gases creating carbon offset regions
- Empowers local people to develop 'green micro economies and gain an income
- Encourage natural history education, especially for schoolchildren
- Creates woodland centres and legitimate eco-tourism areas
- Promotes Sustainable Development and Sustainable Living

FES has already been to Nepal and planted many trees in the Chitwan area, and continues to work with a number of established partners. His Excellency, Mr Chalise, the Ambassador at the Nepalese Embassy in London supports the 'Himrain Project' and our carbon sink programme. Andy Mydellton formed these partnerships and is the chairman 'Environmental Concern Advisor' of the UNESCO UK ASPnet Group.

Through your generosity you also create a legacy, as some trees will live for hundreds of years and give life to countless generations of animal species and help protect our ecosystem and climate change concerns.
